

Helping Members during lockdowns

Like many other business's, periods of lockdown are obviously a concern to golf clubs as there is still ongoing costs in maintaining the course even when its closed. Regardless of what other Clubs have been doing during these difficult times, we took the view of how we would feel ourselves if we continued to pay when a facility was closed and for that reason, we undertook what we believed was 'The Right Thing' and have either not charged fees (or refunded them) for times that we have been forced to close. As this action has gained a great deal of respect from our members, we felt it important to share a response from a member which typifies the mutual respect that both parties hold for each other

To whom it may concern,

Firstly I'd like to reiterate the comments made by other members on the handling of the current situation. I am a relatively new member of the club, having joined at the end of the first lockdown back in May. I always feel incredibly welcome at the club with the incredibly friendly staff, as well as the other members.

The way in which the club has handled the current situation and immediately concentrated on the members is nothing short of fantastic. The club as a whole should be incredibly proud of how this has been handled as all of the members including myself understand the troubles that you go to in order to keep the club running not only financially, but as efficiently as possible for members and visitors.

Thank you very much for the continuous updates! I look forward to getting back out on the course hopefully rather soon!
